WHO AM I

I specialize in designing complex digital ecosystems. With extensive experience in the Saudi Arabian market, I have collaborated with various ministries and governmental sectors to translate ambitious Vision 2030 goals into intuitive, user-centric interfaces.

My approach combines rigorous UX methodology with a unique technical edge: a background in coding that allows me to bridge the gap between creative vision and functional reality. I don't just design screens; I architect seamless journeys that prioritize accessibility, national identity, and high-performance usability.

MY BACKGROUND

Education and Technical Training:

- Bachelor of Computer science
Faculty of Sciences - Cairo university
- Machine learning Training
Climate Change Information Center & Renewable Energy - Ministry of Agriculture
- Problem Solving Training
ACM Community - Cairo University
- UI/UX Designer Training
Dataserve

My approach to UI/UX is deeply rooted in a strong mathematical and programming foundation. This background allows me to go beyond aesthetics, focusing on the underlying logic, data structures, and algorithmic efficiency of a product. By understanding the 'how' behind the 'what,' I design complex systems that are not only visually compelling but also technically feasible and highly scalable.
